

Call for Java Developer

SAYservice is a company established in 2009 as a spin-off of the Fondazione Bruno Kessler (FBK), with the goal of bringing to the market the results of over 10 years of research in the fields of Service Oriented Architectures (SOA) and of the Internet of Services.

SAYservice is looking for motivated personnel to join its technical staff, and work in the development lab to carry on the realization of SMART, the proprietary SAYservice platform for the integration, orchestration and customization of services.

In particular, SAYservice is offering open positions for Java Developers.

Candidates should have matured experience in Java server-side development. Knowledge of one or more of the following technologies/tools will be considered an important asset:

- JSON/XML formats
- REST/SOAP Web services
- Spring/OSGi integration technologies
- SQL/noSQL DBMS
- Enterprise Service Bus
- BPEL, BPMN

Working place: Trento (Italy)

CVs have to be sent to jobs[at]sayservice[dot]it. Please specify “Java Developer” in the e-mail subject.

Note: Due to the Italian Privacy Protection Law n.196/03 your CV should mention explicitly the following wording: “I authorize the use of my personal data in accordance with Italian Privacy Protection Law (30/06/2003, n.196/03)”.
